

Louisiana Appleseed Project Overview

This project documents the experiences of Louisianans who own or have owned heirs' property and creates a toolkit for legal service providers to reach underserved residents. The following videos were created with support from the Speak Out for Justice program.

Heirs' Property and the UHPA In Louisiana (Full Video)

<https://youtu.be/3KdxCu1Qsdo> Louisiana Appleseed interviewed two families, The Morgans & The Bickhams, who would have benefitted or could benefit in the future from the protections offered under the Uniform Partition of Heirs' Property Act. Two-time Super Bowl Champion and retired Saints player Malcolm Jenkins provides insight on the importance of adopting the law in Louisiana. LSU Law Professor John Lovett describes the law as it stood in 2024.
